PROFILE

Frontend developer with over 10 years in software development, the last 6+ years focused on React, React Native, and Next.js. I like building mobile and web apps that work well and are easy for other developers to pick up after me. These days I'm building a React Native app for the Japanese hospitality market, covering everything from payments and ID verification to secure login and localization. I pick things up fast, enjoy mentoring teammates, and try to keep solutions practical rather than overengineered.
